In addition, it encourages participation in extracurricular activities. It endeavors to arouse enthusiasm among the students for attending and participating in sports events. It fosters good citizenship, scholarship, co-operation, loyalty, and courtesy among the students. It ever directs its efforts toward making Clark a better school.

For these reasons and because the paper, both this year and last, ranked All-American in the National Scholastic Press Association ratings, the PN was chosen as the theme for the 1945 Powder Horn.

When the 1944 Powder Horn went to press, George Rogers Clark had four gold stars on the honor roll plaque in the hall. When the 1945 yearbook went to press in April, there were 18. Only time can tell how many more will appear on the plaque before the 1946 annual is printed.

To every Clark graduate and teacher who is serving, or has served, in the armed forces during the present strife, and especially to those who have given their lives and to those who will give their lives before the war is over, this Powder Horn is first dedicated.

It is dedicated, secondly, to those who will sit at the peace conference after the war is won—to those who will attempt to lay the foundation of an enduring peace. May God be their guide.

Cartoons Depict Production

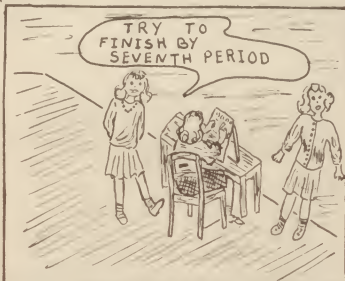

Although the Pioneer News is not distributed until Thursday, the first of the many steps in production begins Friday of the preceding week. The initial procedure is making assignments for page two on this day.

Having received their assignments, reporters from the journalism class set out to get information for writing their stories. They interview both teachers and students in securing all the essential facts.

A staff typist, who must be accurate, neat, and intelligent in her work, receives the copy and makeup sheet from the page editors. Following their implicit directions, she transposes the stories onto the stencil.

At this point in production, the stencil is presented to a mimeoscope operator, who cuts the headlines and cartoons according to the page editors' instructions on the makeup sheet. Extreme care is exerted to make the heads mechanically attractive.

of Pioneer News . . .

I WISH THAT CLASS WOULD LEARN TO WRITE

According to the deadlines which are set up for each page of the PN, the journalists turn in their copy to staff editors, who work on the Pioneer News during their free periods each Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

MAKE THIS STORY
A TWO-COLUMN
SPREAD

Individual page editors, working under the supervision of the co-editors and sponsor, swing into action next. They fit the stories into position on a makeup sheet and write headlines. Upon completion of their work, the page is carefully laid out.

SLIPSHEET!!

After the stories, cartoons, and headlines are cut, the stencil is ready to go to press. A last-minute check for errors is made, and then the stencil is fastened to the mimeograph, which prints as many copies of the page as are needed.

GOSH, IT'S ALMOST TIME FOR THE BELL.

Early each Thursday morning, members of the staff's circulation department distribute the Pioneer News to the 600 student subscribers and Clark's teachers. Copies also are sent to numerous alumni and "exchange" high schools.

NHS Membership Totals* 25 . . .

Seventeen seniors and four juniors were elected to the National Honor Society, making the total membership twenty-five. They were chosen by the faculty from the upper third of their classes on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and character.

In previous years the society had not been sponsored by any member of the teaching staff, but this year Miss Pearl Yocham acted as sponsor and supervisor of the group.

For the first time the original method of electing the members was used. Five per cent of the junior class was elected this year and in the fall of next year up to ten per cent of the senior class can be selected. The remainder will be chosen in the second semester.

The Harold Zimmer Memorial award, sponsored by the National Honor Society, is given each year to a senior boy for outstanding scholarship, athletic ability, and sportsmanship. The candidates are nominated by NHS members and elected by a committee of six teachers. This year the honor went to Norbert Adams. Joe Figuly, a member of the Class of '44, was the first winner of the award.

When Day Goes Over
 When the sun sets in the western sky,
 And another day is done;
 When the stars begin to glimmer,
 To replace the golden sun;
 When the breezes stir the air,
 And love is in the air,
 And the restful songs of twilight
 Replace the bugle's blare;
 When war and death and battle
 Are to us but memories,
 And to the white, clean sails of ships
 Float calmly on the seas—
 Then can we be happy,
 Rejoice with mirth and song,
 Through the working day is shorter,
 Yet the day is still quite long.

The first of these is the fact that the government has been unable to raise the necessary funds to meet its obligations.
 This is due to a combination of factors, including a decline in tax revenue and an increase in government spending.
 The second major problem is the high level of inflation, which has eroded the value of the currency and led to a loss of confidence in the government.
 Finally, the government has been unable to implement effective economic reforms, which has led to a stagnating economy and a high level of unemployment.

Students Today— Citizens Tomorrow. . .

In September, 1941, a group of students entered George Rogers Clark High School as freshmen and assumed the title, "Class of 1945." Graduation certainly seemed a long way off, but the time flew by all too rapidly. Yes, the Class of '45 reached the end of four years of fun and friendships, and was graduated prepared to face the future. Four years cannot be dismissed, however, without remembering the many activities that made life at school so busy and interesting.

One of the most valuable assets the "freshies" had to get them off to a good start was their sponsor, Mr. Paul Wilkinson. Also their choice of officers helped them to a glorious beginning. They elected Norbert Adams, president; Karl Kasch, vice president; Dorothy Studabaker, secretary; and Tony Wirtz, treasurer.

Speech and dramatic work were given revived prominence at Clark due to the accomplishments of participating freshmen. Neal Creswell won special honors by being named state winner in humorous reading.

Clark coaches were particularly pleased with several boys who showed great promise in sports.

In the social line, "The Spring Swing" was the first endeavor of the class and proved to be a successful one. The dance was given in May and featured decorations in pastel colors.

Having shed the name of "greenies," the class ventured forth on its second year of high school as sophomores. The officers chosen were George Buksar, president; Bob Bennett, vice president; Ruth Peterson, secretary; and Albert Antilla, treasurer.

Basketball honors bestowed upon Clark during that year were due partly to the work of two sophomore boys. Starring on the sectional championship five was George Buksar. Al Antilla was a member of the tourney squad.

"The Fall Frolic" was the very colorful dance given in November, this being the sophomores' contribution for the year to the fun life of Clark.

The Class of '45 began its junior year by electing Donald Banas, president; Albert Manchak, vice president; Ruth Ann Smith, secretary; and Al Antilla, treasurer. After Al Manchak left for the Navy in February, Norbert Adams took over the vice president's duties.

On January 27 a novel dance was introduced by the juniors called the "Sock Hop." Dancing in socks, with socks for decorations, proved to be something original at Clark.

This year was a great one for Clark athletes who excelled in two major sports, basketball and football. In basketball, Clark ruled as champion of the Northwestern Indiana High School Conference. In football, the gridders tied for the Western Division championship of the NIHS. Junior boys starred on both aggregations. Among them were George Buksar, Norbert Adams, Rudy Valko, Bernard Pavlovich, Don Banas, Al Antilla, and Norman Girman.

Since there was some uncertainty due to the war, it was great news to the class to find that junior rings would be available. A committee headed by Elsie Ericson took charge of getting the project under way successfully.

Neal Creswell, Norbert Adams, Doris Wilkinson, JoAnn Kinsey, and Dorothy Studabaker received the distinction of being named to the National Honor Society as juniors.

To demonstrate their skill in acting, the class members presented "Janey's One-Track Mind," a three-act comedy directed by Miss May Virden. It had a double cast for the main parts and was given two evenings, April 27 and 28.

The profit from this production helped to pay for the next gala affair, "Dream Fantasy," the junior prom. Decorations were truly a marvel to see. Stars, clouds, and castles adorned the Clark gym, and a woven ceiling, which had never before proved successful, was an added feature. The programs were also "out of this world" in design which, incidentally, was drawn by Bob Vogel. The music was furnished by Wally Humphrey and his orchestra.

The final year for the Class of '45 begun by electing Tom Covey, president; Albert Antilla, vice president; Ruth Ann Smith, secretary; and Norman Girman, treasurer.

Of the four main officers in the Student Council, three were filled by seniors. Neal Creswell headed the group, and Melba Johnson and Eddie Gruener were secretary and treasurer, respectively. Other outstanding clubs and organizations in school were also led by diligent seniors.

One of President Tom Covey's first jobs was his appointment of 23 seniors to a planning committee. It was a well-selected group, for there were students to represent every religion, district, and social class in the community.

The senior play, "Letters to Lucerne," again featured a partial double cast. The play, under the direction of Miss Oza Cunningham, was one of the most inspiring and well-done productions ever presented at Clark.

With the aid of cooperative seniors, the planning committee prepared for the annual Christmas dance—"The Chime Inn"—which was held December 28. As the name suggests, the decorations were chimes and bells in festive holiday colors. Billy Michaels and his orchestra were hired to provide the music.

Again, through the efforts of many senior boys, the football season closed successfully, Clark placing second in the state. The other sports seasons, those of basketball, wrestling, cross-country, and track, were all completed with many victories for Clark.

Not only will the highlights of high school years be recalled, but the friendships and daily occurrences will be treasured as fond memories. It is with these thoughts of the past and high hopes for tomorrow that the Senior Class of 1945 left the portals of Clark to meet the problems of life courageously, and to try to bring peace upon the earth and to the hearts of men.

The Class of 1946 began its third year of high school by electing Vernon Schroeder, president; Harold Morris, vice president; Dorothea Walsko, secretary; and Nick Smaluk, treasurer. Under the able sponsorship of Miss Bernice Williamson, the class was ready to continue with its fine record.

A tradition at Clark was revived early in December. This was the amateur hour program which had always been a regular feature in previous years, but strangely had not been presented for three years. The class felt that "a good thing should not die," so with Jay Mills as the master of ceremonies, the program met with hearty approval. Committee heads were Joyce Cannells, auditioning; Julius Kristoff, advertising; J. D. Schlatter, program; and Jim Applegarth, tickets.

To carry on with originality in sponsoring school affairs, the annual junior dance on January 25 was called "The Record Breaker," with records, of course, being the decorations and theme. This was a mid-semester dance, and certainly was welcomed by the students after the exams.

Frances Argus, an honor-roll junior, was chosen to represent Clark at Girl's State in Knightstown, Indiana. She was selected because of her fine scholastic record and her service to the school.

Headlined by a talented cast, the junior play was another successful endeavor. It was a three-act satire called "The Torch-Bearers" and was given May 4.

The all-junior dance and the prom concluded the activities for the year; however, the class will not end its excellent service to the school, but will reach its climax in next year's ventures in order to complete its high school career.

Under the competent leadership of Miss Ida Iversen, the Sophomore Class was ready to "swing into action," having established itself in its freshman year. An election was held early in the semester, and the results were: Paul Voreacos, president; Dave Roberts, vice president; Donna Stumph, secretary; and Mack Foreman, treasurer.

On November 25, the class gave its annual dance and called it "The Cranberry Crawl." The theme was inspired by the coming Thanksgiving holidays. Cranberries, turkeys, and other autumnal trimmings were used as decorations.

The various committee heads chosen to make this dance a huge success were: Gay Kilkeary, name; Ina Jean Linn, music; Ted Wiley, ticket; Milan Manchak, publicity; Jim Eggers, clean-up; Jo Ann Runick, decorations; and Jim Groshans, check-room.

Many sophomore boys were interested in sports, and they proved their athletic ability by participating in football, basketball, wrestling, track, tennis, and cross-country. The girls were not to be outdone and also joined the athletic organizations in school.

Several students of the Class of '47 were particularly outstanding in speech work. Among them were Bill Vobach, Joe Rueff, Ted Wiley, Paul Voreacos, Madge Burosh, Lois Foster, and Barbara Miller. They did both debate and individual speech work.

The sophomores were looking ahead to their last year of high school. Instead of waiting until then to select their class color, flower, and motto, they decided to get it all over with this year. These committees were headed by Donna Stumph, class color and flower, and David Roberts, class motto. The class is also preparing its history for the four years of high school. This will be written by those who attended Clark from kindergarten.

This quality of preparedness certainly proved that the Class of '47 is one that will get things done, now and in the future.

Freshmen Get Good Start . . .

Principal R. H. Miller announced on November 30, 1944, that Miss Carolyn Lambert had been appointed the first class sponsor was enthusiastically received by the 205 members of the class. Miss Lambert's fitness, her business and capability were realized by the "freshies" who were eager to get started in a busy high school career. Meeting public leadership was a difficult task for anyone, but the class accomplished this by choosing Everett Levitt, president; Nancy McLaughry, first vice president; Lillian Gasenica, secretary; and Ralph Porter, treasurer.

President Levitt's first job was the selection of committee heads and members to lead the class activities for the year. Those named to the publicity committee were Chairman Dick French, Jo Ann Endres, Mary Linda Burnett, Dorothy Adams, Betty Pivarnik, and George Mandas.

The ways and means group was composed of Roma Atchison, chairman, Lillian Antilla, Phillip Wetnight, Royal Isberg, Norbert Sudinski, George Kozak, and Marjorie Peterson.

To take care of all party and dance arrangements, a social committee was organized of the following: Chairman Sally Creswell, Dolores Seehausen, Pat Easter, Pat Davidson, Bernadine Dolak, Eugenia Vorecos, Bob Auer, Alice Trebs, Eloise Haugh, Bob Klepach, Dan Krc, and Eddie Langhor.

Having participated in the many school activities since the beginning of the school year, the class decided to sponsor a school affair of its own. This was the well-organized and enjoyable dance held in April.

A soap sale was conducted during the latter part of the year in order to raise funds for the class. This project proved the excellent salesmanship of the members.

With a year completed at Clark, the freshmen can be proud of their endeavors, and in turn, they have made Clark proud of them, the Class of 1948.

In order to keep a country's government running smoothly and without corruption, there must be a group of leaders who are capable of performing the duties imposed upon them. A school, too, must have a governing body. At Clark this legislative organization is known as the Student Council.

Under the leadership of Principal R. B. Miller, the council, composed of two elected representatives from each home room, did many things this year. In September, a committee, led by Imogene Eberly, was chosen to head a drive during which the students were to raise $12,000 in bonds and stamps. The drive ended on the third anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack, and netted $33,000.

The council took interest in the school premises and the student body. In November, the members pondered over ways to improve Clark. A committee, headed by Lorraine Kosior, talked over school problems with Mr. Miller.

An outstanding project of the year was the presentation of honor plaques to the parents of alumni killed in action.

Most of the assemblies this year were made possible by the Student Council.

Red Cross Aids War Effort . . .

Wherever there is catastrophe, pain, or distress—on the battlefield, during flood and famine—there is the helping hand of the American Red Cross. Helping this "angel of mercy" is the Junior Red Cross.

Clark's Junior Red Cross, sponsored by Mrs. Vera Walden, aided the war effort in many ways this year. It made wash cloths, ditty bags, and wooden ash trays; collected playing cards and crossword puzzles; filled educational boxes for children overseas; and completed an afghan and several scrapbooks for convalescing servicemen.

In addition, it helped the Senior Red Cross by rolling bandages at the Whitng Community Center every Monday evening, and sponsored the war fund drive which was conducted during March.

Some of the money collected during this drive was used to purchase wood which the school shop converted into games, chairs, coffee tables, and lamps. These were later sent to Army and Navy hospitals.

Clark's chapter was always ready and willing to render service wherever it was needed.

Once again the Hi-Y Club lived up to its old tradition of always being busy and active. Under the leadership of Neal Creswell, president, and the sponsorship of Mr. Paul Wilkinson, the club began the season by sending the cabinet members to Camp Tecumseh for special training. The Hi-Y opened the social season at Clark by giving a get-together dance.

Later in the year a group of the members attended the State Older Boys' Conference at Richmond, Indiana. The theme of the conference was "My Responsibility to Our Town."

During the year a number of assemblies, as well as the annual home room basketball tourney, were sponsored by the club.

The Hi-Y served the school in many ways and tried constantly "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

Two new policies were instituted this year as the Girl Reserves, one of the largest organizations in school, endeavored to fulfill its purpose of service.

First was Big Sister Week; near the beginning of the school year each old member acted as a "big sister" to a new freshman member to help her become acquainted with school life at Clark.

Second, various projects were arranged by the officers, Miss Emily Johnson, the club sponsor, and Miss Margaret Ide, co-sponsor. Some of the projects for which the girls signed up were Red Cross work, supervising children, repairing children's books, and orphanage work. If the girls did not participate in a project, they were suspended from the club.

Before school opened, several members attended a Girl Reserve Camp for a week at Milford, Indiana, where they acquired ideas for use in the year's program.

Activities for the year began with selling tags for the Auxiliary of Disabled Veterans. Two parties, the initiation of new members, and a combined Hi-Y and Girl Reserve party were on the social calendar.

The impressive candlelighting services were held during December. Just before Christmas many of the members went caroling in the Robertsdale area.

Individual speakers placed third in the Invitational Speech at Thornton Fractional, and Neal Creswell placed third in the Country Oratorical Contest sponsored by the American Legion. Neal was also voted the most valuable member of the speech squad.

The season ended with one of the largest and most active chapters in the National Forensic League that Clark has ever had. Neal acted as president.

Five members of the speech squad received the highest award in the NFL, the Degree of Distinction. They are Joan Haeckel, Bill Vobach, Joe Rueff, Phyllis Radermacher, and Paul Voreacos.

The orchestra activities were many and varied this year. Led by its capable director, Mr. Darwin Eret, it appeared in the winter and spring concerts and performed before an assembly. "Letters to Lucerne" and "The Torch Bearers," the senior and junior plays, respectively, had between-act music provided by the orchestra, and the small instrumental group in the minstrel show given in January was composed of orchestra and band members.

One of the most important events of the year for this organization was the operetta, "Hearts and Blossoms." As in the past, it accompanied the solo and chorus numbers. Another activity was performing for an elementary play.

Ensembles have been busy entertaining several clubs in the vicinity. They also played in the district solo and ensemble contest held in Whiting, April 28.

The orchestra concluded the year by providing the music for baccalaureate and commencement exercises. Showing its worth in many ways, the orchestra proved itself to be one of the most valuable organizations in the school.

I'll always remember my music teacher, orchestra leader and friend. You've always been very patient with me.

New Director Leads Band

Under the new leadership of Mr. Carlyle Snider the band completed a busy and successful year. Its first duty was to march at home football games with all the precision and color for which it is known. The climax was reached in the Whiting game, when both the Clark and Whiting bands combined to make formations.

During each basketball game at Clark a small pep band entertained the fans with school songs and marches.

Besides playing a student concert, the band participated in the winter and spring concerts, and was one of the organizations featured on the WJOB program, "High Schools on Parade."

For the first time in the history of the school, the band sponsored a dance—"The Tootsie Twirl," a sock hop. Another project was selling magazine subscriptions for the Curtis Publishing Company. Proceeds from the dance and the subscriptions were put into War Bonds to be used for the purchase of new uniforms.

One of the most outstanding events for the musicians was the concert they gave in May for the war veterans at Hines Memorial Hospital.

Combining their efforts, all the vocal music organizations have worked to cultivate the students' interest and enjoyment of music.

All groups were active and found many places to perform. Working with the history department, the Mixed Chorus and the Girl's Glee Club presented music of the Navy, Coast Guard, and Marines at the Navy Day assembly.

At Christmas all vocal music groups participated in a program showing how some foreign lands celebrate Christmas. Soon after came the minstrel show regaling the audience with jokes, songs, and dancing. All organizations took part in this show.

With two successful operettas behind them, the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs and the Mixed Chorus decided to give one this year. "Hearts and Blossoms" was chosen and presented late in March.

Outside organizations have called on Miss Wilma Range, director of vocal music, to provide entertainment for their programs. The Junior and Senior Triple Trios made appearances at Teens, Inc., and sang before several church groups.

The Boys' Glee Club participated in a WJOB program, and the Senior Triple Trio performed on the all-school broadcast originating from Clark, "High Schools on Parade."

Forum Club Practices Democracy . . .

True democracy was practiced in the Forum Club as it offered its members the opportunity to express their opinions and views freely. Time for questions and discussion was always allotted after talks given by outside speakers or students.

Current topics as well as the problems students will have to face as adults were discussed in the club's meetings. "Universities and Colleges" was the title of an address given by Mr. Ralph Cox, personnel director. Several ex-graduates also gave accounts of their respective places of higher education.

An aim of the club this year was to provide speakers which the students would otherwise not have had an opportunity to hear and enjoy. In order to obtain money to carry out this aim, the members sold Christmas cards.

Under the able guidance of Mr. Joe Griffin, social studies teacher, members of the Forum Club presented a hobby exhibit in March as the outside project of the year. All students and clubs were invited to enter their hobbies, and prizes were awarded to the most interesting ones.

Officers: Julius Yarnes, president; E. A. Schlemmer, vice president; George Pappas, secretary; Edward Knapton, treasurer.

Patrol, Service Clubs Labor . . .

As their titles signify, the purpose of these two clubs is to serve the students.

During rain, snow, or sunshine, in hot or cold weather, the patrol boys, whose sponsor was Mr. M. L. Mullins, were always at their stations.

From September till June, their most important duties were to help small children and older students cross the streets safely. At football games they kept order among the fans.

Supervising the elementary pupils who stayed for lunch during the noon hour and maintaining order in the halls were the duties of the Service Club, sponsored by Miss Ellen Viney and Mr. Howard Stevenson. Although never given much publicity, this club was always first in the line of service.

Linguists Learn in Clubs . . .

To the students of the Latin and Spanish classes, their respective clubs were as important as their everyday studies. Monthly meetings were held which advanced their knowledge of the languages and the customs of the people living in the Latin American countries and ancient Rome.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Evelyn Carlson, the four Latin Clubs prospered by learning much of the customs, language, history, and culture of the Roman people.

The underlying purpose of the Latin Clubs was to understand the contributions of the Romans to the English language and our way of living.

Singing songs in Latin, playing typical Latin games, and discovering Latin derivatives of English words were some of the activities. The main feature of the year was the Latin banquet where the second-year students represented the Roman citizens, and the first-year pupils were their slaves.

Members of the two Spanish Clubs under Miss Hazel Holland established as their main theme the development of a closer understanding of our Latin American neighbors. The meetings stimulated the students to learn more about the Spanish-speaking peoples.

Several talks were given explaining the habits and customs of the people, especially those in Mexico. Spanish games and singing were also enjoyed by these clubs as by the Latin Clubs.

A new feature inaugurated this year was writing letters to students in Mexico City. Some of the members also participated in the all-school radio broadcast, "High Schools on Parade."

To stimulate and encourage healthy minds and bodies in girls was the chief aim of the Girls' Athletic Club, sponsored by Miss Agnes Best. The girls had to pass certain qualifying tests and accumulate a minimum amount of points to be eligible for membership.

Letters given to outstanding girls were based on the number of points acquired by participation in many sports. Awards presented were based on ability and sportsmanship. Lois Pierce was voted the best athlete, and Elaine Gehring was given the sportsmanship award for the third year in a row.

The most popular major sports were basketball, volleyball, kickball, and softball. Several parties were given, which proved the club did not exclude social activities.

Sponsored by Mr. Arvo Antilla, grid mentor, the C Club successfully carried through its purpose of furthering Clark athletics.

As a climax to the basketball season, it sponsored the annual "In and Out" game, in which the seniors, led by Al Antilla and George Buksar, emerged victorious over next year's varsity candidates, 43 to 27.

At the annual C Club banquet, individual stars in all sports received formal recognition. Honor was heaped upon George Buksar, truly the greatest all-around athlete in the history of George Rogers Clark, made a clean sweep of all the major awards. "Buck," who now is serving in the U. S. Navy, was voted the most valuable player in both football and basketball, and became the owner of the C Club All-Around Award.

Al Antilla, whose coolness under fire and fine sportsmanship were outstanding, received the best mental attitude awards in football and basketball.

Those who earned most valuable awards in other sports were: Norbert Adams, track (1944 season); John Mindas, cross-country; Tom Covel, wrestling; and Neal Creswell, tennis.

Powder Horn Chooses Pioneer

Because the Pioneer News attained the high All-American rating from the National Scholastic Press Association for presenting a neat and accurate account of all school activities, the Powder Horn staff chose the weekly mimeographed newspaper for its theme. Thus the two publications enjoyed this year a closer relationship than ever before.

Under the guidance of Sponsor Max W. Beaty, the Pioneer News gave more than the news coverage of the school—it gave the students entertainment. A full page of the newspaper was devoted to feature material each week.

The Pioneer News issued a special combined April Fools' Day and Easter edition in which one page was devoted to surprising the readers. An unusual eight-page Christmas edition was an added feature of the holiday season.

Headed by Co-editors Pat Schlater and Jeanette Rakoczy, the Pioneer News staff consisted of Maebelle Giffin, managing editor; Imogene Mau and Doris Wilkinson, copy editors; Elsie Ericson, Marilyn Horst, and Norma Markert, page editors; Gene Krawczyk, proof-reader; Neal Creswell and Arthur Powell, sports editors; Lucille Bonczyk and Bob Hotchkiss, feature writers; Imogene Eberly and Elaine Gehring, mimeograph operators; Lucille Bonczyk, Pat Lippie, Dolores Kulpa, and Olga Arendas, typists; Florence Blastick, mimeoscope operator; Ruth Peterson and Melba Johnson, circulation managers; Jeannette Carmichael, exchange manager; and Barbara Kokajka and Lillian Emolovich, Whiting Times correspondents.

Wartime regulations demanded a small yearbook, but this did not stop the Powder Horn from giving a full account of how the Pioneer News reflected the spirit and accomplishments of the school. This task was made easier by the fact that to a great degree the same students served on both staffs.

The literary staff was composed of Editor Doris Wilkinson, Jeanette Rakoczy, Imogene Mau, Neal Creswell, Norma Markert, Maebelle Giffin, Lillian Jefchak, Lucille Bonczyk, Dolores Kulpa, Violet Skurka, and Pat Lippie. Advertising Manager Pat Schlater headed her staff of Marilyn Horst, Magdalene Kaminsky, Georgia Pappas, Lorraine Kosior, and Barbara Kokajka.

The subscription staff was guided by Imogene Eberly and Elsie Ericson, co-managers. The staff itself consisted of Norbert Adams, Florence Blastick, Jeannette Carmichael, Lillian Emolovich, Eddie Gruener, Bob Hotchkiss, Melba Johnson, Gene Krawczyk, Betty Lukas, Bernie Pavlovich, Shirley Roessner, Edson Turner, Bob Vogel, Ruth Peterson, and Elaine Gehring.

Kilocycle Club Reorganizes . . .

The former Radio Club was reorganized and renamed this year. Under Mr. Paul Wilkinson, sponsor, it became known as the Kilocycle Club.

Most of the boys were members of the radio class, but anyone who was interested could join the club and take part in the projects and demonstrations conducted in the meetings after school.

The Kilocycle Club also did its part in the war effort. The boys collected scrap paper between scheduled paper drives.

Librarians Aid Clarksters . . .

With the assistance of Miss Harriet Lake, the Library Club rendered many services to the students. The members gave at least one study period a day for library work.

They signed out books and magazines, arranged colorful and timely displays on the bulletin boards, put up appropriate maxims, and repaired old books.

In addition, they prepared new books for use, helped the Junior Red Cross, and gave daily care to the library's many interesting plants.

Once again, after a two-year interval, Clark had a club open to chemistry students.

As in past years, this club was organized under the sponsorship of Miss Veva McAtce to assist its members in learning science, to aid students in developing their scientific skills and talents, and to help them keep up with the rapidly changing scientific world.

The club met on one Monday evening each month. A bunsen brunch, a meal cooked over a bunsen burner, was a part of one program. The members liked the idea so well that brunches were held during the lunch hour on the Monday before each regular meeting.

Interesting and educational programs were provided for the members. Graduates and speakers from the various industries in this area told about the part chemistry played in their work. Student demonstrations and motion pictures were also included in the program.

As the club was affiliated with the nation-wide Science Clubs of America, members wore symbolic pins from that organization.

Members Taught Through Stamps . . .

"Education Through Stamps" was the theme that prevailed in all the meetings of the Stamp Club this year. While the members enjoyed their morale-building hobby, they learned much about geography, history, and economics at the same time.

Besides sponsoring the stamp exhibit held this spring, the students visited many of the stamp shops in Chicago. Members added to their collections by purchasing stamps from Mr. Joe Griffin, sponsor of the club, and by trading with each other during their meetings in Room 207.

Poets Entertain Fourth Graders . . .

In order to improve their reading ability, the members of the Poetry Club chose as their project this year reading poems to Miss Ann Banks' fourth graders.

Poems pertaining to the particular season of the year were presented at each meeting. Time was allotted for the members' original jingles and ballads. Recordings of famous poetry readings were also played.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Carolyn Lambert, the members enjoyed poetry to the fullest extent.

Meet Panthers Friday Night

By NEAL CRESWELL
The eyes of Indiana are upon us; we cannot get away. The hopes of the western division schools are with us; we cannot let them down. At Whitling field tomorrow night, ten seniors and one junior, wearing the battle gray and blue of George Rogers Clark, will carry the school's honor into a contest which will decide the state football championship title for the year 1944.

As for the seniors, it will be the last game under Coach Usselman's leadership. It will mark the last time that they, a unit of great football team, will see action together. South of Washington is favored to win the game tomorrow night by virtue of a great season's record, and the presence of Arnie Baski in the backfield.

Concluding the best football season in Clark's history, the Pioneer gridders, under the guidance of Coach Arvo Antilla, were runners-up to South Bend Washington for the state championship.

Most illustrious of their accomplishments was an undefeated Western Division cruise which saw the Clark battle wagon sink every Calumet region club which had the misfortune to come into range. The deadly attack of the boys in battle grey and blue featured the running, passing, and kicking of all-state halfback, George Buksar.

Norby Adams gained wide recognition with his plunging, blocking, and line backing. Rudy Valko's reverses were the punches that beat Roosevelt in a crucial mid-season game. The Clark line, comprised entirely of seniors, was deservedly ranked with the greatest forward walls in Indiana football.

The city championship and a 25-6 victory over Whiting were two additional honors earned by this team of which we can be justly proud.

Frosh-Soph Gridders Win Five, Lose Three . . .

Despite the presence of ten seniors on Clark's state runner-up eleven, the underclassmen came in for their share of hard knocks and valuable experience.

The freshmen and sophomores, under the tutelage of Coach R. Wayne Cunningham, played a full schedule, including games with Morton, Edison, Irving, Tech, Hammond High, Whiting, E. C. Roosevelt, and Thornton Fractional. Their fine record of five wins and three losses was made possible by the prowess of a plucky line and a tricky backfield, featuring Everett Levitt, Lefty Uselman, Cliff Kender, and Dan Krc.

Reserve linemen who showed promise are Ed Filkowski, Mack Foreman, Milan Manchak, Don Osborne, Rudy Wadsadecki, Don McCoy, Don Klepach, and Don Krausky.

Cagers Exhibit Spirit . . .

Despite a fair-to-middlin' season in which they won but ten of 22 games, the local cagers succeeded in proving to everyone concerned that George Rogers Clark High School was still the home of "Fighting Pioneers."

Twice when the Clarksters were the lowliest of underpups, they rose to the occasion with smashing upsets the result. One night early in January, the Lew Wallace Hornets came to town. They brought with them an undefeated record and a third-place state rating. With Captain Buksar directing operations, the Shieldsmen turned in a howling 29-27 upset.

Clark Wins Conference In 1947 (?) . . .

Call it a wild prediction if you will, but from all indications, Clark should win another conference championship within the next three years.

There are several reasons for this bold statement. The "B" squad record for the season was thirteen victories against four losses. The freshmen won twelve and dropped four.

George Peters, a sophomore, was a standout performer on the varsity squad. George Bobos, Joe Gulvas, Joe Dolak, and Jim Eggers have all shown great promise.

Carrying the mail for the freshmen were Lefty Usselman, Everett Levitt, Ed Langohr, Cliff Kender, and Phil Wetnight. The pivot man of Clark's future "whiz kids" will be Ralph Porter, distinguished "B" team center.

Green Thinly-clads Give Good Account . . .

Coach Wayne Cunningham's track men, although possessed of little in the way of experience, gave a creditable account of themselves in competition.

Among the veterans who led the team were Harold Morris in the broad jump and dashes, and Norby Adams in the shot put. George Buksar's entrance into the service in early March deprived the team of its best all-around performer.

At the conclusion of the season, inventory disclosed that a number of dependable sophomores and juniors will be on hand for future contests.

Covey Takes Second In State Meet . . .

The wrestlers participated in dual meets with Washington and Roosevelt of East Chicago and in the state finals which were held this year at Crawfordsville.

Outstanding among the grapplers was Tom Covey, who wrestled in the 175-pound class. Tom placed second in the state meet.

Performers who were consistent point-winners included Captain Bob Bennett, Julius Kristoff, Milan Manchak, and Royal Isberg. The captain-elect of next year's squad is Manchak.

Underclassmen Hold Key to Future . . .

Several dual matches with Washington and Roosevelt of East Chicago comprised the fall tennis season, which was highlighted by a trip to South Bend Central.

The presence of several underclassmen on the varsity squad indicates that this unheralded sport may enjoy added interest when the firing begins again next fall. At any rate, Pioneer interests will be well protected in the fast-stepping game of drives, slices, lobs, and aces.

Harriers Beat Hammond In Dual Meet . . .

The harriers experienced a fairly successful season by winning six out of eleven cross-country meets.

Top point-winners among Coach Paul Wilkinson's distance men were Captain Bill Gunder, John Mindas, Eugene Kania, Frank Long, and Pat Wagner.

Running the complicated two-mile home course, the thinlies beat Hammond High for one of the season's outstanding performances. They placed eighth in the Northern Indiana High School Conference meet held at Gleason Park in Gary.

Sports of all types occupied the time during two noon hours of every week for members of the GAC. The main participants were members of the club, but all girls were invited to play and enjoy the games.

These sports were basketball, tumbling, baseball, kickball, volley-the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Foundation 2000). The prevalence of mental health problems in the UK is estimated to be 10% (Mental Health Foundation 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of people with mental health problems in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has set out a vision for mental health care in the UK, which is based on the principles of recovery, self-help, and community care. The vision is to ensure that people with mental health problems are able to live full and meaningful lives, and that they are able to contribute to society. The vision is to ensure that people with mental health problems are able to live in the community, and that they are able to access the services they need.
